

Sovereignty Speaks® Sovereign Tribal Nation IRB

Sohail Khan, MBBS, MPH, CIP
Director of Health Research
Co-Chair, Cherokee Nation Institutional Review Board

Dr. Khan received his training in medicine and surgery in 1987 from Dow Health Sciences Center, Karachi, Pakistan, and he earned his MPH in 1992 in Epidemiology and Biostatistics from the University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center College of Public Health.

Positions and Employment

Since 2005, he has served as Director of Health Research, Cherokee Nation Health Services, Epidemiologist/Biostatistician for the Cherokee Nation Health Services, Adjunct Assistant Professor, Northeastern State University, College of Optometry and Tribal Liaison/Grant Administrator for the Oklahoma Native American Research Center for Health.

PI or Co-PI

Cherokee Cancer Registry
National Library of Medicine's Native American Health Information Project
Projects funded by U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and March of Dimes Foundation

Publications

Dr. Khan's research publications focus on rheumatic disease, metabolic syndromes, Type 2 Diabetes among Oklahoma tribal populations, and effective collaboration between tribal nations and Indian Health Service.